

2018 TOP SMART APPLIANCES

Bring innovation home with this year's top smart appliances. Leading technology brands including LG, Whirlpool, Samsung and more have released several new solutions to help add convenience and efficiency to your lifestyle.

LG SmartThinQ® Smart and Connected Appliances

Use LG's AI system, available through a smartphone app, to connect to your television, refrigerator, washer and dryer, oven and more.

- The InstaView Refrigerator features a touchscreen you can use to look up recipes, play music, keep a grocery list, or even become clear to reveal the contents of your fridge.
- LG ranges paired with ThinQ allow you to check the status of whatever you're cooking.
- LG dishwashers with the technology can also be controlled by your phone.
- The Top Load Washer and Dryer with ThinQ have two compartments each for washing and drying, and even consider washing habits, local weather and air quality to give your clothes the best clean.
- The technology can even detect and diagnose issues with appliances and notify a local repair center.

Whirlpool with Amazon Alexa and Google Assistant

The appliances support AI to allow you to check the time remaining on your washing machine, start the dishwasher, adjust the temperature of your fridge or even turn off the icemaker.

- The Smart Front Control Range and Smart Over the Range Microwave incorporate Yummly's recipe app that you can use to send cooking directions to the appliances with images and video.
- Amazon Virtual Dash can restock your connected refrigerator if you're running low on something.

Smart Multicooker GKM9000

This small-sized appliance has Bluetooth connectivity and an integrated scale, and can also be used to control other smart home appliances.

- It features a 7-inch LCD touchscreen that gives you control to measure ingredients, operate blades for whipping, chopping or stirring, or access 100 pre-loaded recipes.
